October 2017

The aim of the training was to make observations in pre-school settings in Holland to get information about education and in-service training opportunities of pre-school teachers and to obtain information about the competences they have. 21 participants attended the training from ZİÇEV, Gazi University, Hacettepe University, Ankara Directorate of National Education and our European partners, Permacultura (Spain) and CJD (Germany). Participants conducted group visits for 5 days, reviewed pre-school settings, received information from the authorities. Research group also visited Utrecht University to learn more about the teacher education programs. The groups came together from time to time to share their observations and information they have had with each other and to discuss.

The second short-term joint staff training under our project was organized by our Dutch partner Heliomare between 2-6 October 2017

The training ended with a general evaluation and certification ceremony on the last day.
